Bachelor of Science in Education Studies (BSES) Non-Licensure Degree

The University of Arkansas at Monticello School of Education offers a 100% on-line Bachelor of Science in Education Studies (BSES) Non-Licensure Degree. Our program allows candidates to work full-time while completing an on-line degree as a pathway to licensure. The School of Education works collaboratively with public schools to establish and maintain partnerships for observations and field experiences. Candidates have the opportunity to earn experiential learning credit for completed years of service as a paraprofessional in a public school. In addition, the School of Education provides focused, one-on-one advising for all BSES candidates. Upon successful completion of the program, the University of Arkansas at Monticello offers an alternate licensure program, Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT).

The online degree prepares candidates with the necessary knowledge of content and pedagogical skills for post-baccalaureate admission to an alternative route for teacher licensure through the UAM Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) degree after completion of the BSES Non-Licensure degree. In MAT program, the candidate will be teaching on a provisional license as teacher of record earning a salary. The online non-licensure degree and the MAT route will allow candidates to continue in their current position and not have to quit a job or lose benefits such as insurance. The successful completion of the MAT route will result in a Master's degree and a standard license in K-6 level, Middle Level or Secondary levels of teaching.
