ADE's My School Info Website Reaches 1 Million Page Views

LITTLE ROCK — The Arkansas Department of Education is pleased to announce that the My School Info website has received more than 1 million page views since the website's launch in November 2016. In the last six days, the website has received approximately 50,000 page views with the release of the 2018 Arkansas ESSA School Index Private Reports.

"This milestone reflects the value stakeholders place on the My School Info website," said Arijit Sarkar, ADE's director of information systems and chief information officer. "Not only is the site easy to use, it promotes transparency by giving all stakeholders access to important education data 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

Through My School Info, ADE combines multiple sources into one location to provide free, online access to school and district data. The user-friendly site is interactive and allows users to do the following:

- access school and district information (such as address, phone number and website address);
- review testing and financial information;
- compare schools and districts;
- analyze trends over multiple years; and
- view the School Performance Reports and ESSA School Index Report.

ADE continues to make improvements to the website to better meet the needs of stakeholders. Earlier this year, ADE added the 2018 ESSA School Index Reports to the site. The addition allows users to access ESSA School Index scores and compare information for multiple schools. ADE encourages stakeholders to use the information to lead conversations about education in their local communities.

"My School Info is just one way that Arkansas is leading the nation in student-focused education," Sarkar said. "We remain committed to continuing our collaboration with educators, parents, students and communities to provide future improvements and enhancements that will benefit all stakeholders."
